

Teller County (CO) First Responder Project

An estimated $125B is lost by healthcare systems each year due to underpaid claims; and that was before the current crisis. Wellness Wishes is the perfect vehicle to easily and efficiently reclaim lost revenue for local hospitals and healthcare facilities, while generating much-needed funds for the communities in which they serve. Which is why we're proud to be a part of the Teller County First Responder Project.

Get involved in the project to recoup lost, unrealized money for your organization, while financially contributing to the Teller County First Responder Project with no out-of-pocket expenses. Your involvement will provide for development and management of a state-of-the-art training facility for 20 first responder agencies in and around Teller County, Colorado. YOU have the power to make this happen! HOW? Contribution is laid out in four easy steps:

1 A partnership between our organizations would begin with your own claim's recovery project

2 Our team of Funding Advisors does all the work from data collection, analysis, reconsideration efforts, and recovery of funds

3 Significant funds are returned to your healthcare organization; Wellness Wishes only takes a fee on money that we help recover

4 We then allocate a portion of our fees to fund the Teller County First Responder Project in your name

EXAMPLE BREAKDOWN OF POTENTIAL FUNDING:

- $100M revenue hospital
- 10% revenue recovered = $10M
- Hospital retains $5M
- WW invoices $5M with a minimum $1M going to Teller County Project, with potential funding for your philanthropic efforts.

JOIN US in helping rebuild a healthier future for the greater good!

The current Teller County First Responder Project budget includes an initial start up cost of $600,000 – with additional funding to be allocated to facility management, upkeep and updating. Project elements, claims recovery project and further details available upon request, or simply contact us to schedule a call to answer all your questions, strategize and start facilitating funding for your organization and YOUR community!
